

The greatest blessings in my life are my salvation, my wife, and my little baby girl. Before I even had the possibility of attaining any of this, I was consumed in the bondage of addiction. I was facing a serious felony charge when I finally agreed to go to treatment at the faith-based recovery program Sandhills Teen Challenge in 2015. I completed that program and began working as a staff member at Dare Challenge in the Outer Banks shortly after. Dare Challenge is also a faith-based treatment program. I worked there until I founded my very own faith-based treatment program Saving Sons in my home town of Whiteville in 2017. I have a heart to bring the best resources into Columbus County for substance abuse treatment. When the opportunity came for me to partner Saving Sons with CRCI and join their team, I jumped on it. It is my honor to be the Columbus Campus Director of Operations. I also pastor a small church in Columbus County. I look forward to all God has in store for Columbus County and feel privileged to serve their residents with CRCI in any way.
